Alumni Loyalty Share Fund Movement Announced at Homecoming Banquet October 20

COMING as a surprise to the majority of graduates and former students who crowded the Homecoming banquet hall, October 20, plans for the raising of $100,000 by the Alumni association for alma mater were presented.

The plan, presented by Franklin Johnson, class of '28, chairman of the Alumni association, was enthusiastically received.

4,237 ALUMNI

The drive to be known as the Alumni Loyalty Share Fund Movement, will be carried on among 4,237 former students with an organized campaigning force to start solicitation during January. This initial solicitation will culminate the third Tuesday of February, the time of the college board of trustees' mid-year meeting and the celebration of Founders and Patrons day. However, from that day forward it is the purpose of the association to continue the raising of funds, the building up of the student body and the increasing and cementing of friendships.

NEED STRESSED

Johnson and other speakers on the program emphasized the fact the time had come for the Alumni association to take an active part in the advancement of the college. CPS has many needs, but the great need is greater income. Never before has such an opportune time presented itself for the association to render financial aid.

Shares have been placed low enough and payment plan made easy enough for all alumni to take a financial part in the Loyalty Share Fund movement. Small amounts from a great many is the plan of the committee.

PLANS OUTLINED

The drive, as outlined by speakers, will be built around the scheme of the Color Post, distinctly a tradition of the College of Puget Sound and about which are uniquely organized graduates, former students, faculty members and all persons who have been or are now officially connected with the college in any way.

The movement is based upon the first four classes to graduate, being 1893, 1894, 1895 and 1896. Each year a class is added to each group, or quadrant, in rotation. Pledge cards are of each color representing the quadrants. They are Purple (government), cardinal (religion), yellow (science) and white (culture).

4,000 $25 SHARES

The aim of the finance committee is to secure pledges for 4,000 $25 shares. To carry out their aim members of the committee, each a captain, will have a number of lieutenants, who will make a thorough canvass of the association membership in Tacoma, where approximately 2,500 former students reside. The captains are Franklin Johnson, '28; Richard Wasson, '24; Darrel Thomas, '30; Salem Nourse, '24, and Ensley Llewellyn, '28.

The field outside Tacoma will be under the direction of Rev. J. S. Bell, field secretary for the college, who will be loaned for this work by the administration. Puget Sound Alumni clubs already exist as far east as New York. Seattle has the largest club. An alumni club is soon to be formed in Chicago, where an increasing number of former Puget Sound students are making their residence. Rev. Bell will work through these clubs.

PLEDGE OF LOYALTY

The opening sentence of the pledge card reads as follows:

"In consideration of other alumni and quadrant members subscribing to assist the College of Puget Sound to maintain and advance high academic standards and as an expression of my loyalty and love for the college, I hereby subscribe"

How the Movement Came About

BY

President Edward H. Todd

"I Doff My Hat to the Alumni Association"

IT GIVES us genuine pleasure to know that the Puget Sound Alumnus has been established. It is to be the medium of exchange of opinions among you. Through it you will come to know each other and each other's whereabouts better. All of this has come about because the Board of Directors of your association asked the administration what they could do for the College.

The Board of Directors acted very much like groups of alumni have acted in the past. They took the path which certain alumni took in the crises of 1898, 1903 and 1913. This is as it should be, for it is the alumni who, because of their vital relationship and interest, become the logical basis for the perpetuity and success of any institution.

The administration gave the Board of Directors something of the condition of the income of the College. They were told that the falling income was becoming a menace, and that the salaries of the professors had been cut. Had these salaries been sufficiently high, these necessary cuts would not have been so serious. As a matter of fact, they were only fair in amount.

It is very apparent that certain capital needs are pressing; but if the income is not sufficient to provide overhead expense for additional buildings, gifts for such buildings cannot be solicited

Because . . .

1. Our alma mater must have increased income if it is to go forward. There is no such experience as standing still.

2. If we, the alumni, and those related to the school lead off, others will be disposed to follow.

3. The Alumni association will be enabled to publish the Puget Sound Alumnus. This will keep its members informed and in touch with one another.

4. Being informed and in touch will enable the alumni and quadrant members to work intelligently and unitedly for the College.

5. The College has proven itself able to do the work of a college and to pay its bills. It has accumulated no debt for current expenses in the past 20 years. It has the highest academic rating.

6. Money paid on the Alumni Loyalty Shares will be divided between the College and the Alumni association, thus inaugurating cooperation in maintaining the College.

7. The College has been maintaining a placement bureau for students and alumni. The expense of this has been coming mainly out of the regular funds of the College.

8. There are 14 alumni on the Board of Trustees of the College. This gives the alumni representation in the spending of the money. Besides, the alumni finance committee has close relation with the Board of Trustees.

9. All members of the four quadrants are being solicited, and they are responding. Members of the Board of Trustees, faculty, matriculants who did not graduate, and those bearing degrees, form these quadrants, and are divided into four groups based upon the first four classes to graduate, viz.:
Quadrant I—1893, 1897, 1901, 1905, 1909, 1913, 1917, 1921, 1925, 1929, 1933, 1937.
Quadrant II—1894, 1898, 1902, 1906, 1910, 1914, 1918, 1922, 1926, 1930, 1934, 1938.
Quadrant III—1895, 1899, 1903, 1907, 1911, 1915, 1919, 1923, 1927, 1931, 1935, 1939.
Quadrant IV—1896, 1900, 1904, 1908, 1912, 1916, 1920, 1924, 1928, 1932, 1936, 1940.
 A class is added to each quadrant every four years in regular rotation.

10. Anyone who desires, through this share fund or otherwise, to create a special fund, may do so, and his wishes will be followed.

11. The share fund movement has been indorsed by 50 prominent alumni, the faculty, and the Board of Trustees of the College.

12. The president of our alma mater needs our assistance in this critical period. He has led us to our present high standing, and now calls for aid. We should and will respond.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

Reviving the enthusiasm and undergraduate spirit of other years CPS alumni are again rallying under the Maroon and White to put across a $100,000 drive.

$100,000 looks and sounds mighty big, and standing by itself it is. But the Alumni association is big and can be expected to do big things.

Great oaks from little acorns grow. When accomplished, the goal of the Alumni Loyalty Share Fund Movement will be like the mighty oak—$100,000. But the little acorn you plant only amounts to a $5 planting once a year for five years.

The surprising part of the whole thing is this tree bears fruit for you starting with the planting of your first $5. The fruits! A five-year subscription to the Alumnus, and the pre-payment of Alumni dues for five years.

SPARK PLUGS AND HAYWIRE

Remove the spark plugs from your car and the only direction the machine will move is down hill. Roughly that's what happened to the Loggers' gridiron vehicle.

When the machine lost Jimmy Ennis it just about lost the whole ignition system. And losing spark plugs like Jack Kimball and Chuck McMillen is enough to make any buggy miss-fire. True, Coach Sandberg, had a lot of hay-wire laying around the practice field to do some repairing with, but there is absolutely no substitute for spark plugs.

Sure, we started the season with what was considered the finest

WE TAKE A BOW

Alumni who could afford a postage stamp wrote with the following remarks concerning the first number of the Alumnus. (Is our face red!)

I was tickled to death to get a copy of the Alumnus.

I appreciate the alumni edition very much and should like to receive any future editions.

Thanks for the Alumnus.

I enjoyed to the utmost the Puget Sound Alumnus that was sent to me.

and largest squad assembled at CPS. But take the plugs out of the swellest limousine and see how far it will go.

So, quit your complaining, alumni. Just remember your SUPPORT is needed most when the team is losing.

GONE—A PART OF US

Rev. Benjamin Franklin Brooks has passed—A pioneer of religion and education in the Puget Sound region.

Though an alumnus of another institution he had been adopted by our association because of the constant interest he manifested for all things concerning CPS.

He was so close to the school and its student activities that even in his advanced years, he frequented the athletic field and watched with interest football practice. That's how vitally concerned he was with CPS.

How I enjoyed the alumni paper. I hope the issue will be the beginning of a regular paper for us old grads.

I enjoyed the issue of the Alumnus very much and certainly hope that it can be continued.

I know grads will be happy to receive the next number of the Alumnus.

I'm all for your keeping up an alumnus paper—It will mean everything to me—stuck over here in the corner of the state and miles from any civilization, and 'twill be the only means I have of keeping track of you all—so here's to it and the best of luck.

I wish to thank you and your associates for the Alumnus. I found some very interesting articles and especially liked the Lost and Found column. After so many years out of CPS and knowing many of those mentioned, it was very interesting to read about them.

You certainly ought to be highly complimented upon the first number. It seemed to me at least to be a very splendid effort, and should do a lot of good in arousing interest among our far-flung alumni.

It was surely good to get the issue of the Alumni sheet. I didn't realize I could become an "old timer" so quickly nor enjoy a lost and found column so much. Other such issues will certainly be enthusiastically welcomed by me.

R. E. COOK, '07

Rack in the golden sport year of 1903 there was as a member of the Pacific Coast gridiron championship eleven, a player bearing the name of R. E. Cook.

Probably no other graduate has kept in as close and active touch with his alma mater. For seven consecutive three-year terms he has served on the college Board of Trustees, and for several years has been chairman of the instruction committee. He has recently been elected trustee from the Annual Conference. His position as alumni representative on the Board has been filled by the election of Paul Hanawalt, '18.

He received his M. A. from the University of Washington in 1923, and his honorary L. H. D., Doctor of Human Letters, from CPS in 1933.

His teaching career started at Castle Rock high school where he taught and coached the year following his graduation in 1907. The next year he was superintendent and coach at Chelan. In 1910-1911 he was superintendent of Waterville schools, and from 1911 to 1914 was principal of the Bremerton-Charleston Union high school. He then held the superintendency at Chehalis from 1914 to 1924. He served in the A. E. F. on the Y. M. C. A. educational staff and later as a member of the Army Educational corps in France, while on leave from his Chehalis position.

Before going to Everett as superintendent of schools, he was, from 1924 to 1928, principal of Lincoln high school, Tacoma.

In his immediate family are his wife, Leola Barrett Cook, '08, and 16 year old daughter, Olive Elizabeth (Betty) Cook.

A few of the more important organizations in which he holds memberships besides national, state, and local educational associations are: Phi Delta Kappa, Mu Sigma Delta, Pi Gamma Mu, F. A. M. (Past Master) R. A. M. (Past High Priest), Rotary club (Past President), Red Cross (Director), Scientific Temperance Foundation (Director) M. E. Church (President, "Forum" Sunday School class).

Booth, a former Alumni association president, was to visit in Chicago and also at Rutland Heights, Mass., with his brother-in-law and sister, Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Crimmin. Crimmin was formerly staff physician at the U. S. Indian Hospital in Tacoma.

president of the Everett Rotary club he sank a lucky 155 yard shot to become a member of the "Hole in One Club."

"I appreciate THE College more and more as the years go by; and I credit President Todd with being under God its preserver, and hope his wise leadership may long continue. I believe implicitly that the College will always continue to render essential service to the state, nation, and the world," writes Cook.

W. E. A. HEARS S. E. FLEMING

Seventy-five alumni gathered at the Bonneville hotel for the annual CPS luncheon in connection with the W. E. A. institute, October 26.

S. E. Fleming, assistant superintendent of Seattle schools, gave the main speech. "It has been the private colleges that have saved education in times like these," he said as one of his opening remarks. "This Business of Education," was his topic.

He called education "the greatest business in the world," but decried the fact that it couldn't sell itself to the public. Pointing to the successful advertising campaigns of the liquor and tobacco industries, he said that if education was smart it, too, would set up publicity bureaus to control the news and the thinking of the public.

He concluded his speech with the sentence: "Make the man right and the world will be right."

Senator Davis presided over the luncheon program. President Todd, the first speaker, welcomed the alumni. He was followed by Salem Nourse, who presented the Alumni Loyalty Share Fund Movement to those present.

VARSITY BALL DEC. 15

The Varsity Ball, first of its kind at CPS, will be held December 15 at a hall yet to be selected, according to Jimmy Ennis, president of the Lettermen's club. Admission will be 75c per couple. Let's all get behind Jimmy and help him establish the Ball as the outstanding social function of the year. Let's make it a tradition, as in other schools.

ALUMS PAY TRIBUTE TO SENATOR DAVIS

In paying tribute to Senator Davis, in whose honor homecoming alumni held their annual banquet this year, President Todd said "If I were to paint a picture of the alumni of the future it would be a portrait of the senator."

"You alumni will grow to be more like him because he has taught and touched you. His loyalty, devotion and love for the College will be exemplified in you in the future. He is the image of the alumni."

Prof. Frank G. Williston, in proposing a toast to the senator, foresaw a day in the near future when a Davis hall would rise on the campus through the efforts of the alumni as a fitting tribute to Senator Davis. He spoke of it as the heart of the College's life, wherein would be housed rooms for all social gatherings, theatricals and where an atmosphere of "home" would prevail on the campus.

In response Senator Davis told of a quarter century of progress that has made the College what it is today. At the head of a list of great events in the life of CPS he placed the coming of Dr. Todd as the institution's president and his engineering of six endowments. "When other colleges of similar size were suffering severe financial losses in recent years, President Todd has, through valuable friendships, secured $300,000 for the school."

On the same program Coach Sandberg presented a ten-year plan for the upbuilding of an athletic plant on the campus.

Musical entertainment consisted of Mrs. Oscar Huseby, piano solos; Delwen Jones, Trumpet solos, accompanied by Mrs. Jones; and Kenneth Fanning, baritone solos, accompanied by Grace Johnson. The banquet was presided over by Mrs. Thomas Swayze.

must be giving at the same time.

After considering the facts above, the Board of Directors of the Alumni association appointed a well chosen finance committee of five young business men. That committee consulted with the president of the institution and presented a report to the Board, recommending the issuance of 4,000 Alumni Loyalty Shares, to be subscribed at $25 per share, payable in five equal annual installments. After full discussion he plan was adopted by the Board. Later it was presented to the faculty by the president of the Alumni association, and was indorsed. Still later the chairman of the finance committee appeared before the Board of Trustees of the College and presented the plan in detail. The Board gave its unanimous indorsement to the plan.

The purpose of this plan is to provide increased income for the College and an adequate income for the alumni to publish the Alumnus and support an editor-secretary on the campus. The plan is not new. It has been used twice before at the College of Puget Sound in critical situations, and it was used once in Willamette University. In all three instances it accomplished the end sought.

Another very desirable end to be gained is the coordination of the work of the Alumni association with that of the Board of Trustees of the College.

Let me bespeak 100 per cent response to the finance committee of the Alumni association as it presents the Alumni Loyalty Share Fund for your consideration. Let me request that every alumnus be an active agent to send students to your alma mater, and also to try to find positions for her graduates and former students.

Here are three things which you can do. If you do them well it will have a heartening effect upon all of us who are charged with the intimate responsibility of carrying forward the College, and will guarantee her success.

The College must serve society in the preparation of citizens who are loyal to the Government, intelligently cultured, and devout followers of Christ, for such citizens will make for the stability and perpetuity of our beloved country.

NEW BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTED

The five new members elected to the Alumni Board of Directors and announced at the banquet October 20 are: Carol Hanson, '32; Darrel Thomas, '30; Franklin Johnson, '28; Amy Dahlgren, '28 and Helen Pangborn, '24. Johnson was reelected, having already served two years.

The hold-over directors, completing the list of ten, are: J. Herman Mattson, '33; Alice Berry '31; Elsie Korpela, '33; Frances Goehring Swayze, '22; and Stanton Warburton, '23.

At the time of going to press the new Board of Directors had not held its meeting to elect officers.

Paul Hanawalt, '18, was elected the alumni representative to the College Board of Trustees.

A large number of classes are represented on the alumni Board. The classes of '28 and '33 especially favored with two each. Women outnumber men members 6 to 4. All members are residents of Tacoma facilitating quickly called meetings.

nor accepted. For example, the College must have many more volumes in its library. But if these needs are met, a new library building would become necessary. However, the overhead expense of maintaining this building would work havoc in the present receipts for maintenance. So, likewise, the need of dormitories, more classrooms, improved campus and enlarged gymnasium accommodations would create a larger budget for upkeep. It is hardly wise to try to secure larger gifts for these purposes when the income is already insufficient. It has been found by experience that those who are able to give large gifts are loath to do so unless they are assured that the small givers are also making their contributions. On the other hand. Those who can give small amounts realize that their gifts alone cannot supply the capital account needs. It is apparent, therefore, that both those who are able to help much and those who can help little
